The name “Taojun” (陶钧) is derived from a line in the Song dynasty poet Ouyang Xiu's work “Xiaou Pavilion” (《狎鸥亭》): "The potter's wheel shapes all things without intent" (陶钧万物本无心). Here, Taojun originally refers to the potter's wheel, symbolizing the nurturing and acceptance of all things. The poem reflects a deep respect for nature and life, embodying a broad-minded and magnanimous spirit. The name Taojun carries the hope that the child will grow up with generosity, tolerance, and kindness, fostering connections with others. 2. Taojun symbolizes nurturing and magnanimity, perfectly aligning with the parents' hopes for their child to be generous, open-hearted, and willing to share. The name's meaning captures their vision of a benevolent and compassionate character. 3. The child was born on June 15, 2029, at 6:00 AM. Bazi elements: 己酉 (Earth-Metal), 庚午 (Metal-Fire), 丙子 (Fire-Water), 辛卯 (Metal-Wood). The five elements are well-balanced with no deficiencies. In the name, Tao (陶) belongs to Fire, and Jun (钧) belongs to Metal—both complement the balanced chart without disrupting it. 4. The child is a girl, born in the Year of the Rooster (Chicken), during summer. Rooster-born individuals are typically sociable and lively. The name Taojun reflects a gentle, nurturing spirit, resonating well with the Rooster's affinity for social harmony and with the bright, energetic nature of summer-born individuals. 5.
